Men have to be the breadwinner of the family.	Men are usually better educated than women	Men get paid more for the same work than women.
Women are designed to look after children.	Women are better at looking after children than men.	Women have less job opportunities than men
Women and men are just as capable of looking after the children the same.	Women are just as well educated as men	Women have equal job opportunities as men
Women can multi-task and so are better at working and looking after the family	Men are lazy	Women are better at balancing their work and family than men
Now women can often earn more than men	Culturally women are prepared to look after their families better	Men don't know how to change nappies, and can't cook.
